The Royal Westmoreland treatment

Aquascutum Golf Collection brand ambassador William Scott

With year-round tropical temperatures, picture-perfect beaches, colourful calypso festivals and some of the world's best known rum, it's no wonder Barbados is an island of happy harmony. The five-star Royal Westmoreland resort offers a luxurious stay, with private villas, a spa, and a challenging 7,045-yard golf course. To keep cool on the fairway, Porsche Design Sport's new golfwear range includes a polo shirt made with Coolmax yarn that keeps cool under direct sunlight and a windproof jacket should an island breeze pick up. Meanwhile, Aquascutum has launched a golf collection that includes cotton and cashmere knitwear as well as waterproof jackets. For more information on Royal Westmoreland, please call 0845 618 2118, visit Abercrombie & Kent at Harrods on the Lower Ground Floor, or email harrods@abercrombiekent.co.uk

New-season swimwear collections

Some of SSI's fashion trends have strutted straight off the catwalk and straight onto the beach. Couture detailing that was seen on this season's dresses is incorporated into Zeki's one-pieces, while the trend for brights is seen on Tibi's psychedelic-print bikinis. There is a polished, glamorous take on the '70s trend – think Jackie O in Skorpion or Brigitte Bardot in Saint-Tropez – with Yves Saint Laurent's linen shirts, corset shawls and patent clutches, Taj's embellished kaftans and, of course, Pucci's signature swirly prints, which appear on bikinis, beach bags and sunhats.

Park Hyatt MILAN With designer boutiques lining the streets of the Quadrilatero d'Orto (Golden Quad) it's no wonder style mavens from all over the world make a pilgrimage to Milan. Brands such as Dolce & Gabbana, Versace, Armani, Prada and Gucci make the streets feel like a never-ending runway, but the city also celebrates architecture and art. The Park Hyatt is conveniently located within the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II, a few steps from the Piazza del Duomo and the Brera Art Gallery. The Park and La Capola restaurants serve up traditional Milanese cuisine, and the Venetian-styled spa offers a place to relax after a hard day's shopping. Malaysia's French chateau

The Berjaya Hills of Malaysia may seem like an unusual spot for a French castle, but it is precisely this idyllic location that makes staying at The Chateau special. Modelled on the medieval Haut-Koenigsbourg castle in Alsace, The Chateau sits above 34,000 square metres of unspoiled rainforest and boasts over 200 suites, a range of organic spa therapies, as well as meditation and exercise classes. The Chateau's restaurants serve both French and Asian dishes made from organic ingredients grown in the hotel's own gardens. For more information, please contact Abercrombie & Kent at Harrods (see above)
